Best practices portfolio

Which of the workshop(s) and/or volunteering activity(ies) that you have mentioned above have shown excellent results?

The workshop that obtained the best results was the creation of different profiles on social networks, it is necessary to highlight that the group of participants presented various barriers when accessing and managing information through the network. This workshop allows them to access powerful tools for access to information and communication.

Would you consider it “good practice”? Why?

Yes, because relational and communicative skills are used and promoted using new information technologies, a powerful tool that is normally beyond the reach of this group.

Please give your tips for replication.
